Filing Receipt for Trademark/Service Mark Application for Registration on the Principal Register and Next Steps in the Application Process

Thank you for submitting your trademark application to the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office (USPTO)! You have started the legal process to federally register your mark.

This filing receipt confirms that you successfully submitted your application, which now must be reviewed to see if it qualifies for registration. Registration is not automatic or guaranteed. Below you will see your mark, the serial number assigned to your application, and a description of what happens next in the application process. Carefully review this information to make sure it is correct and so you know what to expect. We also highly recommend keeping a copy for your records.

Please pay attention to the section below regarding scams and read the Protect against scams section on our website. Also, we encourage you to take advantage of the resources we have linked at the end for first-time applicants, startups, and women entrepreneurs.

Your mark

FLORIDA'S MOST STYLISH VACATION DESTINATION (Standard Characters, mark.jpg)

The literal element of the mark consists of FLORIDA'S MOST STYLISH VACATION DESTINATION. The mark consists of standard characters, without claim to any particular font style, size, or color.

Your serial number

Your application was assigned serial number '98597426'. You must refer to your serial number in all communications about your application.

What you should do right now

Review your application data below for any errors. If you find an error, visit the After You File webpage for information on correcting errors. You can also watch the After you file video for an overview of the most important issues to be aware of after filing.

What we do next

Now that your application has been submitted, it will eventually be assigned to an examining attorney. The examining attorney reviews your application to make sure it meets all of the legal requirements and that your mark is registrable. To learn more, please visit the Examination of your application webpage and the Trademark basics webpage.

Marks with a design element

If your mark includes a design element, we'll assign it one or more design search codes. We'll notify you of these codes within the next several weeks and you can suggest that we add or delete a design search code from your file.

Timing

It will take some time before you hear from the examining attorney. Check out what impacts how long it takes to register your mark and the current average processing times.

Office actions

If your application does not meet all of the requirements, you'll receive a communication from your examining attorney called an "office action." This doesn't automatically mean your mark isn't registrable. It describes any issues the examining attorney found in your application. Your reply to an office action is an opportunity to resolve the issues. You must reply by the deadline to continue the application process and avoid abandonment of your application.

If you have questions, see how to respond to office actions or call the assigned examining attorney. The attorney's contact information is included in the office action. They can help clarify the issues raised in the office action at no cost to you. Please keep in mind that they cannot provide you with legal advice.

What else you should do

These are things to monitor while your application moves through the examination process.

Keep your addresses current in USPTO records

If your postal or email address changes, you must update the owner's address using the electronic filing forms on our website. We don't extend filing deadlines if you don't receive USPTO mail or email.

Check your application status in our database every three to four months

To be sure that you don't miss an important email from us, and to avoid the possible abandonment of your application, check your application status and review your documents in our database, Trademark Status and Document Retrieval (TSDR), every three to four months.

TSDR contains your complete application record. It includes every communication we send you and every action related to your application.

Watch out for scams

Recognizing common signs of a scam can help you avoid costly mistakes. Scammers pretend to be from the USPTO, often state there's some sort of problem with your application, pressure you to act immediately, and tell you to pay some sort of fee or provide personal information. Some will even call you and use names, numbers, and locations of real USPTO employees to try to steal your money or personal information. USPTO employees will never ask you for your personal or payment information over the phone.

If you receive a notification about paying to publish your trademark in a directory, avoid doing so. Trademark directory listings aren't necessary. They're unofficial and not associated with the USPTO.

All official communications will be from the "United States Patent and Trademark Office" in Alexandria, Virginia, and from emails with the domain "uspto.gov." If you're unsure about whether a communication is from us, call or email the Trademark Assistance Center or check your records in our database, TSDR. Any official communications we send you will be uploaded to your records in TSDR. Visit protect against scams on our website.
